ABSTRACT

This report contains state and district statistical summaries for South Carolina elementary and secondary public schools from 1969-70 through 1981-82. During that 12-year period, while enrollment for grades kindergarten through 12 declined by about 7 percent and for grades 1 through 12 by approximately 12 percent, public kindergarten enrollment grew over 600 percent. Despite generally declining enrollments in public schools, the number of staff increased by 14 percent due to expansion of programs for special populations, such as handicapped and gifted students. South Carolina teachers in 1981-82 were paid an average salary of $15,615--$3,000 less than the national average, but 127 percent more than in 1969-70. Of 37,913 high school graduates in 1981-82, 52 percent entered postsecondary institutions, and the number of graduates has been increasing. In 1981-82, public school buses traveled over 58 million miles transporting 66 percent of all public school students. Approximately 68 percent of the students were provided lunches, and 11 percent were provided breakfasts. Student test scores in the Statewide Testing Program and on the Scholastic Aptitude Test have been inproving, though the latter are still below the national average. South Carolina's per pupil expenditures also continue to be below the national average. (JBM)

FOREWORD

The public schools of South Carolina enrolled 626,943 students during the 1981-82 school year. This figure represented approximately 92 percent of the total students who were enrolled in public and private schools in the state. Over the 12-year period depicted in this publication, public school enrollment for grades kindergarten through twelve declined by approximately 45,000 students, or about 7 percent. The enrollment in grades one through twelve decreased by approximately 77,000, or 11.5 percent, over the same time period. The major factor affecting student enrollment has been the live birth rate which has been decreasing at the state level since 1954 and earlier in some school attendance areas.

Since the fall of 1978, public kindergarten has been available to all 5-year-old children. This program has grown over 600 percent since 1970. Only 5,235 children were attending public kindergarten programs during the 1969-70 school year, but by the end of the 1981-82 school year, 36,893 children were receiving kindergarten instruction in public schools.

Although the state has experienced a decline in enrollment, there has been an overall increase of 4,600, or approximately 13.5 percent, in the number of staff. This increase has resulted from the expansion of programs for special populations, such as handicapped and gifted/talented students, and requirements for smaller pupil/teacher ratios and expanded guidance/counseling services.

During the 1981-82 school year, classroom teachers were paid an average salary of $15,615 which was about $3,000 less than that paid on the average to all teachers in the nation. Even so, the teacher average salary in South Carolina has increased about 127 percent since the 1969-70 school year.

The South Carolina public school system presented diplomas to 37,913 students at the end of the 1980-81 school year, and 52 percent of these graduates entered postsecondary institutions. In addition, 7,458 adults completed programs which resulted in the issuance of high school diplomas or examinations which provided a graduate equivalency certificate. The number of graduates in South Carolina has been increasing over the comparison years shown within Trends.

Last year, public school buses traveled over 58 million miles transporting daily 413,318 students to and from the public schools. Approximately 426,651 students were provided lunches and 69,876 were provided breakfasts on an average daily basis. Of these, 247,874 students were fed free- or reduced-price lunches and 62,703 were fed free- or reduced-price breakfasts. The public school system was responsible for transporting about 66 percent of all students attending public schools. Approximately 68 percent were provided lunches, and 11 percent were provided breakfasts.

Student test scores in the Statewide Testing Program (the Comprehensive Tests of Basic Skills, Form S) have been increasing in almost all skill areas. The Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) scores, even though the results are below that of the nation, have shown a strong rise when compared to results from the previous years. More comparison information on test results can be viewed within this publication.

South Carolina's current operating expenditure for 1981-82 was $1,987 per pupil, approximately $500 below that spent on the average across the nation. Spending less per pupil than the national average and the majority of the states has been a steadfast trend over the years.

Many comparisons can be prepared from the material contained within this publication. I invite you to closely scrutinize your public school system. Any questions or comments relating to the published information may be directed to the Management Information Section, Office of Research, which provides this reporting service.

State Superintendent

[1] Included in mileage for regular school program.

Since students may be participating in more than one program area and require transportation, the state total for students is a duplicated count.

[2] Included in student count for regular school program.

[3] Student eligibility is determined by family size and income as declared by parents. These students are also eligible for free or reduced-price breakfast if the schools participate in the special Breakfast Program. All South Carolina schools participate in the School Lunch Program, but not all schools participate in the Breakfast Program.

[1]Excludes adult, nonpublic school, and public library expenditures.

[2]Excludes adult programs, community services, and pupil activity. Funds expended by County Boards and Area Vocational Centers have been prorated to the appropriate districts based on pupils served.

[3]Public school employee fringe benefits are included as expenses at the school district level.

Explanatory Notes:

Figures for 1969-70 reflect per pupil expenditures based on average daily attendance for grades 1-12. Expenditures were adjusted to exclude expenditures for voluntary kindergarten. All other years were based on average daily membership and include grades K-12. Kindergarten students were included in the per pupil expenditure calculations at .5 FTE.

Current operating expenditures exclude capital outlay and debt retirement accounts.

[1]Includes regular classroom teachers, special education teachers, kindergarten and child development teachers, librarians, guidance counselors, and other professional instructional and instructional-oriented staff.

[2]Full-Time Equivalency (FTE) is the amount of employed time required in a less than full-time position expressed in proportion to that required in a full-time position with "1" representing one full-time position. The total FTE is derived by dividing the amount of employed time required in the less than full-time position by the amount of employed time required in a corresponding full-time position. All FTE represented above are expressed in tenths.

[1]Includes principals, assistant principals, vocational center administrators, county/district administrative personnel, consultants/coordinators, business personnel, plant and facilities directors and assistants, transportation supervisors/directors, federal project coordinators, health personnel, social workers, attendance personnel, audiovisual supervisors/media specialists, and other professional noninstructional staff.

[2]Full-Time Equivalency (FTE) is the amount of employed time required in a less than full-time position expressed in proportion to that required in a full-time position with "1" representing one full-time position. The total FTE is derived by dividing the amount of employed time required in the less than full-time position by the amount of employed time required in a corresponding full-time position. All FTE represented above are expressed in tenths.

Full-Time Equivalency (FTE) is the amount of employed time required in a less than full-time position expressed in proportion to that required in a full-time position with "1" representing one full-time position. The total FTE is derived by dividing the amount of employed time required in the less than full-time position by the amount of employed time required in a corresponding full-time position. All FTE represented above are expressed in tenths.

[1] Descriptors designated with code "00" under the column "District" were used to identify the existence of area vocational center(s) serving more than one district.

[2] Youth Services, State Hospital, Williamsburg Manpower Center, Wil Lou Gray Opportunity School, and South Carolina School for the Deaf and the Blind.

[3] A substantial portion of this enrollment decrease is due to improved methods of nonduplicating enrollments within program areas.

Explanatory Notes

Information for 1969-70 is not available by district. Refer to page 6 for state information.

Students enrolled in more than one program are included in the district and state figures more than once.

[1] Student eligibility is determined by family size and income as declared by parents. These students are also eligible for free or reduced-price breakfast if the schools participate in the School Breakfast Program. All South Carolina public schools participate in the School Lunch Program, but not all schools participate in the School Breakfast Program.

[2] Percent was computed excluding the number of eligible students and enrollment in S. C. Youth Services.

[1] Student eligibility is determined by family size and income as declared by parents. These students are also eligible for free or reduced-price breakfast if the schools participate in the School Breakfast Program. All South Carolina public schools participate in the School Lunch Program, but not all schools participate in the School Breakfast Program.

[2] Percent was computed excluding the number of eligible students and enrollment in S. C. Youth Services.
